

Elma Nukić is an illustrator and graphic designer. She graduated from the Academy of Fine Arts in Sarajevo, Department of Graphic Design, in 2022. Her background in illustration has given her a unique perspective that she uses in her work as a graphic designer, creating a harmony between design and illustration that characterizes her projects. She is currently enrolled in a master's degree program, researching the deeper connection between graphic design and illustration, and creating new perspectives in the field of visual arts.
