

Having previously collaborated on multiple projects, these students have contributed to various design fields, including spatial solutions, lighting installations, office furniture systems, and other design innovations.