

Jasmina Ibrahimović is an actress, socially engaged artist and independent researcher. For many years, she was a member of the Tuzla Youth Theatre, where she attended the drama and dance studio. She graduated from the Academy of Dramatic Arts in 2018 in Tuzla, and in 2019 she obtained her master's degree with the play Mother Courage and I directed by Dušanka Belada. She worked at the Tuzla National Theatre as an actress and as an associate for stage movement. She graduated from the SHL Academy for Young Leaders in Civil Society. During the ESC project in Maribor, she made a documentary film titled Loneliness on Sundays and began her research in the field of animated films.